Step 4: Summary

There are 4 major word classes in English: nouns, adjectives, verbs and adverbs.

Adjectives give us more information about nouns (people, animals or things).

➤ William is a very serious (adjective) boy (noun).

Adverbs give us more information about verbs (actions).

➤ She plays (verb) the flute very well (adverb).

/!\ Most adverbs end in -ly (slowly, badly, terribly), but not all words ending in -ly are adverbs (for example, friendly, lovely, silly are adjectives).

The following verbs (stative verbs) can be followed by adjectives: seem, appear, look, feel, taste, smell, sound, become, grow, get, go, turn

- She appeared quite confident.
- He seemed quite happy.
- The food tasted horrible.

[These verbs will be covered in more detail in a separate brick.]

French:

Il existe quatre grandes catégories de mots en anglais : les noms, les adjectifs, les verbes et les adverbes.

Les adjectifs nous donnent plus d'informations sur les noms (les personnes, les animaux ou les choses).

William is a very serious (adjective) boy (noun).

William est un garçon (nom) très sérieux (adjectif).

Les adverbes nous donnent plus d'informations sur les verbes (les actions).

She plays (verb) the flute very well (adverb).

Elle joue (verbe) très bien (adverbe) de la flûte.

/!\ La plupart des adverbes en anglais se terminent par -ly (comme slowly, badly, terribly), mais tous les mots se terminant par -ly ne sont pas forcément des adverbes. Par exemple, friendly (amical) et lovely (adorable), silly (stupide) sont des adjectifs, pas des adverbes.

Les verbes suivants peuvent être suivis d'un adjectif : seem, appear, look, feel, taste, smell, sound, become, grow, get, go, turn - She appeared quite confident. - He seemed quite happy. - The food tasted horrible.
