

Brick Title (as it will appear in the menu) : Present perfect simple and present perfect continuous

X NEW BRICK ☐ Revamp of existing brick:

BRICK CREATED BY :	Carole
BRICK REVIEWED BY :	Rebecca

Menu	Sub-topic	KEYWORDS (for the search engine: 3-5 words)
☐ Everyday Communication ☐ Specialist Communication ☐ Professional Communication ☒ Learning Focus	☒ Existant ☐ To be createdGrammar - tenses.....	Present perfect Present perfect simple Present perfect continuous tenses

Content	Teacher's comments for David
 Step 1: Introduction LEARNING OBJECTIVES At the end of this brick you will be able to... - Explain the difference in meaning and focus between present perfect simple and present perfect continuous (result vs. duration, completed vs. ongoing, etc). - Identify and use both tenses correctly in spoken and written contexts. CONTENT You will ... 1) Listen to a song and watch a short video to learn about the differences between present perfect simple and present perfect continuous 2) Practice key grammar using various types of exercises 3) Listen to and repeat sentences using the present perfect 4) Test your knowledge using a timed quiz 5) You can explore the subject further using the resources provided if you wish TIME: 30min CEFR level: B1-B2

Step 2: I start

Listen to the following song by Amy Studt.

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=HiPjcOoWlhY&t=78s>

Read the lyrics below. You will find 9 occurrences of the present perfect (4 present perfect simple, 5 present perfect continuous). Click on them.

I've been cheating myself for too long.

Living as if I was going nowhere,

And I know it's wrong,

I've been fighting myself for too long,

I try, really try to keep my head up high,

And I know it's wrong,

And I should really know better,

But it's been so long;

Chorus

I know how I feel,

But I'm afraid to show it,

Inside it's so real,

But no one else would know it,

The whole truth and no lies,

Cutting deeper, I can hear my soul cry,

Come on Testify, Come on Testify

I've been lying to myself for too long,

Silence... was my only comfort

And I know it's wrong,

But I can't change the weather,

It's been too long;

Chorus

To the friends that I've lost on the way,

To the friends I've been pushing away,

You could say that I've made it,

But I'm jaded

And inside I'm falling;

Chorus

I've been fighting,

Myself for too long,

And I've been hating,

Myself for too long.

David, je mets en surbrillance les réponses (les 9 occurrences du present perfect (en bleu le pp simple, en jaune le pp continuous)) et en gras tout ce sur quoi les élèves pourraient cliquer (donc réponses justes + réponses fausses). Les réponses fausses sont les segments en gras non surlignés. Il faudrait que la sélection ne porte pas sur un mot mais sur tout le segment (ex. [I was going], [I've been fighting]). C'est possible ?

En feedback, il faudrait faire le récap suivant :

Present perfect simple
(have/has + past participle):

It's been (x2) / I've lost / I've made present perfect continuous (have/has been + V-ing): I've been cheating / I've been fighting (x2) / I've been lying / I've been pushing / I've been hating

Step 3: I learn

Watch the following video and complete the quiz below:

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=pvoqkQHb3lo>

Quiz

- 1) The action is complete. It has an effect on the present, but the action is finished. [*Someone has been eating my chocolate. There's only a few left. / Someone has eaten my chocolates. They're all gone!] [(Feedback >) present perfect simple]
- 2) The action is ongoing. It may continue in the future. [*Someone has eaten my chocolates. They're all gone! / Someone has been eating my chocolates. There's only a few left.] [(Feedback >) present perfect continuous]
- 3) The focus is on the result of an action.
[I've chopped the onion. What's next? / I'm not crying. I've just been chopping onions.*] [(Feedback >) present perfect simple]
- 4) The focus is on the doing of the action.
[I've chopped the onion. What's next? / I'm not crying. I've just been chopping onions.*] [(Feedback >) present perfect continuous]
- 5) The action is completed, but we can still see the evidence.
[*I've cooked all day, so the kitchen is a mess. / I've been cooking all day, so the kitchen is a mess.] [(Feedback >) present perfect continuous]
- 6) The focus is on how many or how often. [It's rained every day this week. / It's been raining all day!*] [(Feedback >) present perfect simple]
- 7) The focus is on how long. [I've been drinking coffee all morning and I'm still tired! / I've had 4 coffees today.*] [(Feedback >) present perfect continuous]
- 8) State/Stative verbs can only be used with the present perfect simple.
[I've known Beth for 3 years. / I've been knowing Beth for 3 years.*] [(Feedback >) present perfect simple]
- 9) The speaker wants to emphasize the fact that the situation is temporary.
[*I've broken my leg, so I've worked from home lately. / I've broken my leg, so I've been working from home lately.] [(Feedback >) present perfect continuous]

Drop down menu

Drop down menu
Options entre crochets
Réponses correctes en gras
Feedback entre crochets à ajouter une fois que la réponse a été donnée.

/!\ Negative constructions

Here is how to make a present perfect sentence negative: add “not” or “n’t” after “have”:

Subject + have/has + not/n’t + past participle

Affirmative sentences	Negative sentences
I have finished my homework	I have not finished my homework I haven’t finished my homework
He has cleaned the whole house	He has not cleaned the whole house He hasn’t cleaned the whole house
I have been waiting for hours	I have not been waiting for hours I haven’t been waiting for hours
She has been travelling for months	She has not been travelling for months She hasn’t been travelling for months

Step 4: Summary

Present perfect simple and present perfect continuous can be very similar. They both connect the past with the present.

Present perfect simple: have/has + past participle

Affirmative sentences:

Ex. (without contractions): I have done / He has bought / We have known

Ex. (with contractions): I’ve done / He’s bought / We’ve known

Negative sentences:

Ex. (without contractions): I have not done / He has not bought / He have not known

Ex. (with contractions): I haven’t done / He hasn’t bought / We haven’t known

Present perfect continuous: have/has been + V-ing

Affirmative sentences:

Ex. (without contractions): I have been doing / She has been working / They have been thinking

Ex. (with contractions): I’ve been doing / She’s been working / They’ve been thinking

Negative sentences:

Ex. (without contractions): I have not been doing / She has not been working / They have not been thinking

Ex. (with contractions): I haven’t been doing / She hasn’t been working / They haven’t been thinking

Present perfect simple

Present perfect continuous

The action is complete. It has an effect on the present, but the action is finished. Someone has eaten my chocolates. They're all gone!	The action is ongoing. It may continue in the future. Someone has been eating my chocolates. There's only a few left.
The focus is on the result of an action. I've chopped the onion. What's next? > Result: the onions are ready.	The focus is on the doing of the action. I'm not crying. I've just been chopping onions. (=doing this action made me cry)
	The action is completed, but we can still see the evidence. I've been cooking all day, so the kitchen is a mess.
The focus is on how many or how often. It's rained every day this week. I've had 4 coffees today.	The focus is on how long. (all morning, all day, for ages...) It's been raining all day! I've been drinking coffee all morning and I'm still tired!
State/Stative verbs can only be used with the present perfect simple (because they indicate a state that is likely to be permanent). I've known Beth for 3 years. I've really liked her since the first time we met.	The speaker wants to emphasize the fact that the situation is temporary. I've broken my leg, so I've been working from home lately.

Here [insérer le lien ici] Lien vers la liste des verbes irréguliers – à inclure dans le résumé à télécharger

In order to use the present perfect (simple and continuous), you need to know the past participles of irregular verbs. Here is the list of the 30 most common irregular verbs.

En français:

Le present perfect simple et le present perfect continuous peuvent être très similaires. Ils relient tous deux le passé au présent.

Formation :

Present perfect simple : have/has + participe passé du verbe

Phrases affirmatives :

Ex. (sans contractions) : I have done / He has bought / We have known

Ex. (avec contractions) : I've done / He's bought / We've known

Phrases négatives :

Ex. (without contractions): I have not done / He has not bought / He have not known

Ex. (with contractions): I haven't done / He hasn't bought / We haven't known

Present perfect continuous : have/has been + V-ing

Phrases affirmatives :

Ex. (sans contractions) : I have been doing / She has been working / They have been thinking

Ex. (avec contractions) : I've been doing / She's been working / They've been thinking

Phrases negatives :

Ex. (without contractions): I have not been doing / She has not been working / They have not been thinking

Ex. (with contractions): I haven't been doing / She hasn't been working / They haven't been thinking

Present perfect simple	Present perfect continuous
L'action est terminée . Elle a un effet sur le présent, mais l'action est finie. Someone has eaten my chocolates. They're all gone!	L'action est en cours . Elle peut continuer. Someone has been eating my chocolates.
L'accent est mis sur le résultat d'une action. I've chopped the onion. What's next? > Result: the onions are ready.	L'accent est mis sur le déroulement de l'action. I'm not crying. I've just been chopping onions (and crying).
L'action est terminée, mais on peut encore voir les preuves . I've been cooking all day, so the kitchen is a mess.
L'accent est mis sur combien ou combien de fois . It's rained every day this week. I've had 4 coffees today.	L'accent est mis sur la durée . (all morning / all day / all week) It's been raining all day! I've been drinking coffee all morning.
Les verbes d'état (state/stative verbs) ne peuvent être utilisés qu'avec le present perfect simple (puisqu'ils indiquent un état supposé permanent). I've known Beth for 3 years. I've really liked her since the first time we met.	Le locuteur veut insister sur le fait que l'action a duré. I've broken my leg, so I've been working from home.

Pour utiliser le present perfect simple et le present perfect continu, il faut connaître les participes passés des verbes irréguliers. La liste des 30 verbes

ici
Lien vers la liste des verbes irréguliers – à inclure dans le résumé à télécharger irréguliers les plus répandus est téléchargeable ici.

Step 5: I practise

“Language work”

Exercise 1. Read each sentence carefully. Then choose the option that best explains why the present perfect simple or present perfect continuous is used.

Drop-down menu

1. Someone has eaten my chocolates. They're all gone!
 - Action ongoing
 - Action complete [en feedback: ajouter : [present perfect simple]]
 - State verb
 - Temporary situation
2. I've been drinking coffee all morning and I'm still tired!
 - The focus is on how long [en feedback: ajouter : [present perfect continuous]]
 - The focus is on how often
 - Action complete
 - The focus is on the doing of the action
3. I've known Beth for 3 years.
 - Action complete
 - Temporary situation
 - The focus is on the doing of the action
 - State verb [en feedback: ajouter : [present perfect simple]]
4. I've been cooking all day, so the kitchen is a mess.
 - The focus is on how many or how often
 - The action is completed, but we can still see the evidence. [en feedback: ajouter : [present perfect continuous]]
 - Action is ongoing
 - State verb
5. It's rained every day this week.
 - Focus on how many or how often [en feedback: ajouter : [present perfect simple]]
 - State verb
 - The action is completed, but we can still see the evidence.
 - The focus is on the doing of the action.

Exercise 2. In each exercise, you will see two similar sentences used in different contexts. Read both sentences carefully, compare the situations, and then choose the correct verb tense for each one.

Part 1 :

1. Someone has eaten / has been eating my cake. There's none left!

[Feedback: the action is complete > present perfect simple] 2. Someone has eaten / has been eating my cake. There are only a few crumbs left. [Feedback: The action is completed, but we can still see the evidence. > present simple continuous] Part 2: 1. I have washed / have been washing the dishes. They're clean now. [Feedback: the action is complete > present perfect simple] 2. I have washed / have been washing the dishes, so my hands are wet. [Feedback: The action is completed, but we can still see the evidence. > present simple continuous] Part 3: 1. It hasn't rained / has been raining every day this week. [Feedback: the focus is on how often > present perfect simple] 2. It has rained / hasn't been raining since early this morning. [Feedback: the focus is on how long > present perfect continuous] Part 4: 1. He has cooked / has been cooking all afternoon, so he's exhausted. [Feedback: The action is completed, but we can still see the evidence. > present simple continuous] 2. He has cooked / has been cooking dinner. It's ready to eat. [Feedback: the action is complete > present perfect simple] Part 5: 1. I have drunk / have been drinking water all day, but I'm still thirsty. [Feedback: the focus is on how long > present perfect continuous] 2. I have drunk / have been drinking four glasses of water today. [Feedback: the focus is on how often > present perfect simple]
Step 6: I say In present perfect and present perfect continuous constructions, the verb “to have” is an auxiliary verb, and so is rarely stressed in speech. The action verb and/or further information following “have” receives the stress, depending on what is being said. Listen to the following phrases and repeat them aloud. Record yourself using the tool provided, and compare your phrasing to the recorded example. Are you	Besoin d'audios!

putting the stress on the right word or words? 1) It has rained a lot this week. Stress on verb 2) It has been snowing for hours! Stress on verb 3) I have loved music since I was small. Stress on noun 4) I have been drinking coffee all morning, but I'm still tired! Stress on noun 5) I have drunk five cups of coffee already! Stress on the surprising number 6) I have not been wasting time! I have been very busy! Stress on the negative 7) I have never travelled by plane. Stress on the negative The only time the auxiliary verb "have" receives the stress, is to contradict another statement (such as an accusation). 8) I have done my homework! What makes you say I haven't? 9) I have been working hard! How dare you say otherwise?
Step 8: I do "Autonomy" You've reached the end of this brick —congratulations! It's now time for the final test. You'll have X minutes to complete it, and only one attempt is allowed. Click here when you're ready to begin!
Exercise 1. Read each sentence carefully. Then choose the option that best explains why the present perfect simple or present perfect continuous is used. 1. She's been studying French for two years, but she still struggles with pronunciation. • The focus is on how long [en feedback: ajouter : [present perfect continuous]] • Temporary situation • Action complete • State verb 2. They've just finished their project. • The focus is on how often • State verb • Action complete [en feedback: ajouter : [present perfect simple]] • Action ongoing	Score /5

3. I've been waiting for you for half an hour! • State verb • The focus is on how long [en feedback: ajouter : [present perfect continuous]] • Action complete • Temporary situation 4. We've visited Paris twice this year. • Action ongoing • Temporary situation • State verb • The focus is on how many or how often [en feedback: ajouter : [present perfect simple]] 5. She's been crying, her eyes are red. • The action is completed, but we can still see the evidence [en feedback: ajouter : [present perfect continuous]] • Action complete • The focus is on how long • State verb
Exercise 2. Present perfect simple or continuous? Choose the correct option. 1. They have visited / have been visiting London twice this year. [Feedback: the focus is on how often > present perfect simple] 2. I have known / have been knowing him for ten years. [Feedback: state verb > present perfect simple] 3. We haven't watched / haven't been watching that film many times. [Feedback: the focus is on how often > present perfect simple] 4. They have traveled / have been travelling around Europe for the past two months. [Feedback: the focus is on how long > present perfect continuous] 5. We have watched / have been watching TV for three hours. Let's take a break. [Feedback: the focus is on how long > present perfect continuous] 6. I have read / have been reading this book. You can borrow it. [Feedback: the action is complete > present perfect simple] 7. I have read / have been reading this book all week, but I haven't finished yet. [Feedback: the action is ongoing > present perfect continuous] 8. He has loved / has been loving sewing since he was a child. [Feedback: state verb > present perfect simple] 9. She has done / has been doing her homework. She can relax now.	Score /10

[Feedback: the action is complete > present perfect simple] 10. She has done / has been doing her homework since 5 pm, and she's still not done. [Feedback: the action is ongoing > present perfect continuous]
Exercise 3. Listen to the following sentences and choose the corresponding meaning. 1. I've just finished my homework. • (A) I completed my homework a short time ago. • (B) I am still doing my homework now. • (C) I did my homework last week. 2. She's been living in Paris for five years. • (A) She lived in Paris five years ago but doesn't anymore. • (B) She will move to Paris in five years. • (C) She moved to Paris five years ago and still lives there now. 3. We haven't seen that movie yet. • (A) We never watched that movie. • (B) We are watching the movie right now. • (C) We will watch the movie later today. 4. I've visited London three times. • (A) At different moments in my life, I went to London - three times in total. • (B) I am visiting London right now for the third time. • (C) I lived in London three years ago. 5. I've lost my keys. • (A) I lost my keys an hour ago but found them again. • (B) I don't have my keys right now because I misplaced them. • (C) I lost my keys some time ago.	Besoins d'audios ! Score /5
Step 9: I share "groupclass" Write 4 sentences about yourself: - 2 sentences using the present perfect simple - 2 sentences using the present perfect continuous 3 of these sentences must be true, 1 must be false. In class, you will read your sentences aloud. Your partner will have to guess which sentence is false. Examples: I have seen Queen play live. I haven't played video games since last Sunday. I have been playing football for 20 years.

I have been working hard on my English since the beginning of the semester.
Step 10: I want more Present perfect simple and continuous: https://learnenglish.britishcouncil.org/grammar/b1-b2-grammar/present-perfect-simple-continuous Present perfect simple or present perfect continuous? https://dictionary.cambridge.org/fr/grammaire/grammaire-britannique/present-perfect-simple-or-present-perfect-continuous
Step 11: For teachers [Reading, Writing, Speaking] Students collect data about famous living people and write down sentences using the Present Perfect Simple or Present Perfect Continuous, such as “She’s been singing for... / since...”, “He’s been married... times”. Then they read the sentences aloud to their partner(s), who try to guess who is being talked about. [Reading, Writing, Speaking] Teacher gives each student 3 to 5 cards with a different number or length of time on each (e.g. “About 2 years”, “Since September”, “For 3 hours”, “Five”, etc.). Students can look at their cards but shouldn’t show their partner(s). They should ask questions to get those answers from their partner, e.g. “How long have you been in that room?” If they obtain an answer that is on one of their cards, they can discard it. The first person with no cards left is the winner.	Cachée pour les étudiants